مختصری درباره بنیاد

Ludo Thijssen is the initiator of the Foundation For A Better World (FFABW). The FFABW wants everyone to have environmentally friendly renewable energy and clean drinking water. The FFABW takes care of the development of these techniques in complete market-ready products and shares that knowledge under free Open Source licenses via the Internet. Only if everyone has access to these devices can there be a chance that we will do something about the global warming rate. Everyone can and may make and use these products, rent and sell these products under the Open Source license conditions. There are no obligations to the FFABW. Ludo Thijssen does expect people who are going to make money from the products developed by the FFABW to realize that further development is needed and that they will sponsor the FFABW to their own ability. The FFABW is not focused on profit and has a charity status. The FFABW has just enough donors to develop the first devices.
